

mirook.com

Website design, SEO & GEO · work sample by Bayer Ok

THE PROJECT

mirook.com is the official site of Miro Ok, Belgium's National U10 chess champion. I built it from an empty domain into a complete, search-optimised presence: site structure, design, content, technical SEO and the social and funding integrations. It is live and I maintain it as results come in.

WHAT I BUILT

- A seven-section site in WordPress (Elementor, Astra) — Home, About, Achievements, Tournament Log, Press, FAQ and Contact — with a responsive layout and an English language switcher.
- A dated Tournament Log that tracks each event (FIDE World Cadets Cup, Open NK Schaken, Open Brasschaat) and an Achievements section presenting results as clear figures: two national titles, 49th of 185 at the 2025 World Championships, one adult open win.
- Instagram and Facebook integration, a Ko-fi funding call-to-action for coaching and travel costs, and a link out to the official FIDE player profile.
- All site copy, written for two audiences at once: chess federations and press who need facts fast, and supporters following the journey.

SEO & GEO WORK

- On-page SEO across every page: titles, headings, internal linking and keyword-targeted copy.
- Structured data in JSON-LD — SportsEvent markup on the tournament entries and FAQPage markup on the FAQ — so listings can qualify as rich results instead of plain links.
- Entity and knowledge-graph markup connecting the player to the wider chess entity graph: the groundwork search engines and AI assistants use to establish who someone is.
- An llms.txt file so AI-powered search engines can read and cite the site correctly (GEO/AEO), not just traditional crawlers.
- Iterative technical SEO/GEO audits — fix, re-audit, repeat.

RESULT

The audit cycle measurably raised the site's overall search-health score. mirook.com is now the player's primary online presence and the reference point press and federations are pointed to — findable in traditional search and readable by AI-powered search engines.

WHY IT'S RELEVANT

This is where I taught myself the work I now do professionally at Episto: writing clear content for a real audience, structuring it so it can be found, and publishing and maintaining it in WordPress. I ran it end to end — no brief handed to me, no team to hand it off to — and it is still running.
